EXCERPTS FROM BRITISH LETTERS . . .

Kent, England

"After the downfall of France and the growing fear of invasion, it was your station, WRUL, with its wonderful message of hope which gave us all here new courage and a really true perspective of the situation and the wonderful way in which your country was helping us. Words cannot thank you enough to explain just what those messages from the New World meant to us."

London, England

"When the siren sounded, I took the radio into the air raid shelter, at the bottom of the garden. I heard your football game . . . most interesting and thoroughly enjoyed. Our anti-aircraft guns were firing furiously all around us, hurtling hundreds of shells at the Nazi planes overhead. With all this, I was getting excited because I wanted Yale to win!"

. . . ACROSS OUR "FRIENDSHIP BRIDGE"

H. M. S.—at Sea

"I've just got to write to you again. What a service you are rendering to humanity! Your words, your deep sincerity almost make me want to blab — and I'm supposed to be a rough and tough sailor. You can picture me, snug in my cabin on this ship, whilst gales blow outside and war surrounds me . . . while America speaks! A warm friendly voice. . ."

Bolton, Lanes, England

"'Friendship Bridge' is a personal message of good wishes and a cheer to all WRUL listeners, at such times as we are passing through; your choice of this program could not have been a better way of showing Anglo-American Friendship."

St. Andrews, Fifeshire, Scotland

"Post Box is grand, so very friendly . . . the talks, good wishes and messages of goodwill from your various speakers over 'Friendship Bridge' are a source of tremendous encouragement. I have had to write this by candlelight, and the 'all clear' has not yet sounded."

Acton, London

"Thank you for your splendid programs, and may 'Friendship Bridge' continue to give us courage and hope for better days in store."

WRUL

"Dedicated to Enlightenment"

TODAY WRUL has become practically the only source of accurate information and enlightening encouragement to the heart-hungry peoples of—

Czechoslovakia—

And its citizens scattered across the face of Europe.

Norway—

And the Norwegian sailors on the high seas.

France—

And the struggling free colonies in Africa and Indo-China.

Netherlands—

With the Dutch West and East Indies.

Albania, Greece—

And a host of other countries.

To the embattled British people, the "Friendship Bridge" broadcasts, originated over WRUL, are already well known for their potent effect of helping nightly to renew confidence and to bring cheer to these brave souls.

Your membership in The World Wide Listeners League directly contributes to this vital work — which now needs more and more support.
